

Data Driven Detroit typically starts any engagement with a potential client-partner by learning more about what it is they hope to accomplish and ensuring we have the capability to help them get there. Once established, we work to define exactly what we can do, in what timeframe, and then use this information to estimate costs. We have a few common ways we approach project budgets: estimated hours to accomplish tasks or deliverables multiplied by an hourly rate; establishing a fixed fee for each deliverable; and providing technical assistance by the hour with monthly invoices. As of June 2020, D3's hourly rates range from $130/hr. to $200/hr., depending on team member that will be accomplishing the work.